Memb. Virtual Office dg MS. Groove 2007 2013-10-15 the city is the home of prosperity it is the place where human beings find satisfaction of basic needs and access to essential public goods the city is also where ambitions aspirations and other material and immaterial aspects of life are realized providing contentment and happiness it is a locus at which the prospects of prosperity and individual and collective well being can be increased however when prosperity is restricted to some groups when it is used to pursue specific interests or when it is a justification for financial gains for the few to the detriment of the majority the city becomes the arena where the right to shared prosperity is claimed and fought for as people in the latter part of 2011 gathered in Cairo's Tahrir Square in Madrid's Puerta del Sol in front of London's St Paul's Cathedral or in New York's Zuccotti Park they were not only demanding more equality and inclusion they were also expressing the need for prosperity to be shared across all segments of society what this new edition of State of the World's Cities shows is that prosperity for all has been compromised by a narrow focus on economic growth UN Habitat suggests a fresh approach to prosperity beyond the solely economic emphasis including other vital dimensions such as quality of life adequate infrastructures equity and environmental sustainability the report proposes a new tool the City Prosperity Index together with a conceptual matrix the Wheel of Prosperity both of which are meant to assist decision makers to design clear policy interventions the report advocates for the need of cities to enhance the public realm expand public goods and consolidate rights to the commons for all as a way to expand prosperity this comes in response to the observed trend of enclosing or restricting these goods and commons in enclaves of prosperity or depleting them through unsustainable use the report maps out major policy steps to promote a new type of city the City of the Twenty-First Century that is a good people-centred city one that is capable of integrating the tangible and more intangible aspects of prosperity and in the process shedding off the inefficient unsustainable forms and functionalities of the city of the previous century by doing this UN Habitat plays a pivotal role in ensuring that urban planning legal regulatory and institutional frameworks become instruments of prosperity and well-being

Managing Educational Tourism* 2015-08-26 this book makes a major contribution to knowledge and theory by drawing implications of teacher effectiveness research for the field of teacher training and professional development the first part of the book provides a critical review of research on teacher training and professional development and illustrates the limitations of the main approaches to teacher development such as the competence based and the holistic approach a dynamic perspective to policy and practice in teacher training and professional development is advocated the second part of the book provides a critical review of research on teacher effectiveness the main phases of this field of research are analysed it is pointed out that teacher factors are presented as being in opposition to one another an integrated approach in defining quality of teaching is adopted the importance of taking into account findings of studies investigating differential teacher effectiveness is argued another significant limitation of this field of research is that the whole process of searching for teacher effectiveness factor was not able to have a significant impact upon teacher training and professional development for this reason it is advocated that teacher training and professional development should be focused on how to address grouping of specific teacher factors associated with student learning and on how to help teachers improve their teaching skills by moving from using skills associated with direct teaching only to more advanced skills concerned with new teaching approaches and differentiation of teaching the book refers to studies conducted in different countries illustrating how the proposed approach can be used by policy and practice in teacher education specifically the book provides evidence supporting the validity of the theoretical framework upon which this approach is based moreover experimental and longitudinal studies supporting the use of this approach for improvement purposes are presented and suggestions for further research utilising and expanding the dynamic approach for teacher training and professional development are provided
