that evoke the freewheeling spirit of the 1960s as well as the current craze for peace signs and other groovy symbols originally published in 1985 liberated cinema the yugoslav experience received the first annual close up award from the yugoslav film institute in 1986 for outstanding scholarship and for promoting the values of yugoslav film art internationally this new edition has been revised and updated throughout it has been expanded to complete the story of the new yugoslav cinema of the 1980s and to address major film developments that have taken place in the former yugoslavia s five successor states as in his analysis of past periods of yugoslav cinema goulding situates the most recent developments within the context of film economics state subsidies and changing patterns of political control most significantly however he provides an insightful discussion of the ways in which critically important domestic feature films produced or co produced from 1991 to 2001 reflect on recent brutal internecine warfare and other contemporary social cultural and political realities after the breakup of yugoslavia issues for 1919 47 include who s who in india 1948 who s who in india and pakistan maroon communities were small secret encampments formed by runaway slaves typically in isolated and defensible sections of wilderness the phenomenon began as runaway slaves unable to escape to safe havens in sympathetic colonies opted instead to band together for survival near the sites of their former enslavement in this first survey of documentary records of marronage in colonial and antebellum south carolina timothy james lockley offers students and scholars of history an opportunity to assess the unique features and trends of the maroon experience in the palmetto state south carolina s maroon communities were typically formed in dense swamps where self contained communities could remain hidden beyond the commercial interests of white society game could be hunted lands could be adapted for farming and plantations could be reached if needed for raiding and trading marronage was a persistent problem for planter society in that its success left fully formed runaway slave camps within striking distance of white communities and interactions between these two worlds were often violent in addition maroons often maintained ties to enslaved african americans on their former plantations creating a web of community that operated outside of white control lockley surveys eighteenth and early nineteenth century historical sources gathered from newspaper reports court proceedings government and military records correspondence and reward advertisements to illustrate the efforts of white south carolinians to locate maroon communities defend against raiding parties and kill or capture runaways living in these societies lockley organizes these documents chronologically dealing first with the origins of marronage then with two surges in maroon activity just before and just after the american revolution after a lull in marronage at the start of the nineteenth century a final swell occurred during the 1820s these primary documents are augmented by eight maps and by lockley s introduction and afterword which place the maroon societies of south carolina in the larger context of marronage in other regions of the new world the general proposition that the social organization of the indo aryans was based on the theory of chaturvarnya and that chaturvarnya means division of society into four classes brahmins priests kshatriyas soldiers vaishyas traders and shudras menials does not convey any idea of the real nature of the problem of the shudras nor of its magnitude chaturvarnya would have been a very innocent principle if it meant no more than mere division of society into four classes unfortunately more than this is involved in the theory of chaturvarnya besides dividing society into four orders the theory goes further and makes the principle of graded inequality under the system of chaturvarnya the shudra is not only placed at the bottom of the gradation but he is subjected to innumerable ignominies and disabilities so as to prevent him from rising above the condition fixed for him by law indeed until the fifth varna of the untouchables came into being the shudras were in the eyes of the hindus the lowest of the low this shows the nature of what might be called the problem of the shudras if people have no idea of the magnitude of the problem it is because they have not cared to know what the population of the shudras is
