Building Arguments offers a fresh, new approach to informal logic, successfully combining an accessible style with a rigorous, systematic treatment of argument. It integrates reasoning and writing, teaching readers to argue effectively and communicate ideas in persuasive prose. It combines fundamental topics of critical thinking into broader discussions of reasoning, so where other books may treat fallacy identification and avoidance, induction and deduction, and validity and soundness as ends in themselves, Building Arguments presents these topics in a practical yet philosophically sound context. It includes entertaining and relevant examples and exercises drawn from sports popular advertising current events and many academic areas building arguments is unique in its emphasis on helping readers to develop their own persuasive arguments as well as to evaluate arguments from other sources using a writing level and organization guided by the principles of reading development the author introduces material gradually moving from a very accessible level to a more rigorous one the result a book unique in its ability to foster philosophically based argument analysis while promoting reasoning and writing skills across the curriculum this volume contains 12 papers addressed to researchers and advanced students in informal logic and related fields such as argumentation formal logic and communications among the issues discussed are attempts to rethink the nature of argument and of inference the role of dialectical context and the standards for evaluating inferences and to shed light on the interfaces between informal logic and argumentation theory rhetoric formal logic and cognitive psychology persuade your readers to take your side of the argument by learning to craft strong argumentative essays exploding with well picked information this quick study guide will help you become more effective at argumentative writing in the next pages you
